Migoli Wedding

Where are we getting married?

Both the ceremony and the party will take place at the Binissatí rural estate, located in the north-central part of Mallorca. The closest towns are Búger and Sa Pobla (where Miguel's father is from).

How many days is the wedding?

The wedding itself will only be one day: Saturday, July 4th. That's why we recommend you come at least on Friday, July 3rd, to be able to rest well and arrive with energy, because on Saturday we expect you to give it your all.

We know that many of you want to take the opportunity to stay a few more days on the island, and we would be thrilled to spend more time with you. We will be in Mallorca both before and after the wedding, as we will not be going on our honeymoon right after (we are saving it for the end of the year).

After the wedding, we will also stay on the island for a few days, and we will take the opportunity to go to the beach with those of you who are still around.

What about transport in Mallorca?

We recommend renting a car at the airport or bringing a car by ferry because public transport in Mallorca is not ideal. To compare rental prices, we usually use this website.

If you want to bring your car from Barcelona, there are several companies: Balearia, Trasmed, and GNV. Balearia has just launched a ferry that takes 3h30 (the fastest and it's also named after a scientist).

As for flights, we usually take AirEuropa, Vueling, and Ryanair. Our favorite is AirEuropa because it allows you to bring a carry-on bag without paying extra.

And accommodation?

Where to stay depends on the type of trip you want to take:

- If you are only coming for the wedding weekend, the ideal thing is to stay near the estate.
- If you are staying more days, it depends: the north is quieter and more rural, while the south is more lively and touristy.

We will be in the southwest, specifically in Palmanova.

To search for accommodation (hotels, apartments, villas, etc.), we recommend Yupi Home, Booking, and Airbnb. If you come in a group, the best option is to share a villa or apartment with parking, as it usually works out to be more economical. Rural hotels or agritourisms can also be a good option: they are usually cheaper, although they are a bit further from the beaches.

The owner of Binissatí has also given us a list of nearby hotels and villas in case you want to take a look.

We love you!
